

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A photoreceptor transfers a first image to a first side of a paper, an intermediate transfer belt transfers a second image to a second side of the paper. The intermediate transfer belt also conveys the paper.

- 5 A conveying unit directly conveys the paper, with the images, to a heating unit that fixes the images. The paper is slowly conveyed in the heating unit as compared to when it is conveyed by the belt.